

WHEN?

Every other Wednesday
5:30pm-7pm

WHERE?

Suite 22, Castle Hill Hospital

WHO?

Any friend, relative or loved-one of someone receiving cancer treatment.

LOCUS has been developed by the Cancer Psychological Service. If you have a loved-one who is a patient and is in need of support, please contact us on 01482 461 060

or visit

www.hey.nhs.uk/psychology/cancer/

Please note, we are not a crisis service

LOCUS

Loved-ones with Cancer, Unified Support Group

A group offering support, to those who offer support

WHO ARE WE?

LOCUS is a group designed to offer support to those who are supporting someone with cancer treatment.

This involves:

- Peer-to-peer support
- Input from Psycho-oncology professionals
- Guidance with supporting loved-ones
- A relaxed and welcoming community
- A foundation of evidence-based therapeutic principles

+ LOCUS. / 'LƏʊ.KƏS/ (NOUN):

"The place where something happens or the central area of interest in something being discussed"

A cancer diagnosis can be incredibly impactful. Understandably, the locus of care is generally centered on the person receiving treatment. That being said, Cancer inevitably impacts the friends, family and partners that surround them. LOCUS aims to offer a safe and contained environment of support. One in which the locus of support can shift to friends, family and partners.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED

Visit

www.hey.nhs.uk/psychology/cancer/

Email

hyp-tr.cancerpsychologicalservice@nhs.net

Speak to a healthcare professional for a referral

Or scan the QR code below

